

COLLEGE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA

The University of Florida is located at Gainesville, which is situated in north central Florida midway between the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean. The university enrollment is approximately 40,000 students, with programs in most disciplines. The College of Veterinary Medicine is a component of the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences and is also one of the six colleges affiliated with the university's Health Science Center. 88 students are admitted to the College of Veterinary Medicine each year.

CURRICULUM: The program leading to the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine is four years in length. The first two years are comprised of core basic science and medicine courses. The core clinical portion of the program begins immediately at the end of the second year, and the final three semesters of clinical and classroom course work are taken in one or more elective areas.

ADMISSION PROCESS: All applicants must apply through VMCAS and meet the deadline date of October 2, 2008 at Noon, EDT. Along with the VMCAS application, candidates must also submit additional materials required by UF admissions. The web address to satisfy this requirement is www.vetmed.ufl.edu/admissions and this website will be available beginning July 1, 2008. The deadline to complete and submit this additional required admissions information is October 31, 2008; applicants must be aware that a $30 processing fee is associated with submitting this material.

Applicants should be aware that the GRE test must be completed by October 31, 2008 and that Fall 2008 semester transcripts must be submitted directly to UF CVM and received by January 2, 2009. Applicants who meet the basic GPA and GRE criteria, who have completed or are scheduled to complete all prerequisite courses† by the end of the Spring 2009 semester, and who have submitted the VMCAS and secondary applications by the deadline dates, will be eligible to be considered for an interview. Interviews are held in March.

† Note: Applicants may request to complete the prerequisite animal science and animal nutrition courses during the 2009 summer semester. Requests must be made on the UF CVM supplemental information sheet which is part of the additional required UF admissions material.

DEADLINE DATE: The VMCAS application must be submitted no later than October 2 at Noon, EDT.

CLASSES BEGIN: late August

SUPPLEMENTAL PROCESSING FEE: see above

ADMISSION DEPOSIT: none

TUITION AND FEES: 2007-2008 $18,401 resident; $39,376 non-resident (subject to change for 2009-2010)

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS: In order to receive full consideration in the admissions process, a minimum grade point average of 3.00 in the required science prerequisite courses should be achieved. A grade of less than C in any of the prerequisite courses is unacceptable. Scores from the verbal and quantitative portions of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE®) are required and should total 1200 or better for non-resident applicant and 1100 or better for Florida residents. The GRE® exam should be taken no later than October 31, 2008 (Institution code 5812, Department code 0617).

All pre-professional requirements must be completed by the end of the spring term of the year in which admission is sought. Prerequisite courses for entrance into the college must include: (Course numbers are UF courses that satisfy content requirements.)
